Texas Public School Accountability System

- Comprehensive evaluation system defined by statute originating in 1993
- Current system legislated by House Bill (HB) 22 (2017)
- Final year assigning ratings under the current system after a two-year pandemic pause
- Overall design evaluates performance according to three domains
- Combined range of indicators determine status of A–F for districts and campuses

System Overview

Districts and campuses receive a rating of A, B, C, or Not Rated* for overall performance and for performance in each domain.

- Domain 1: Student Achievement evaluates performance across
